Amber & Orange

White wines, when fermented & macerated on their skins, end up looking orange, or amber in colour. These wines are characterized by complex & intriguing flavour profiles, showcasing notes of dried fruits, nuts, honey & exotic spices. With a rich and textural mouthfeel, they strike a fascinating balance between the freshness of white wines & the structure of red wines. While a seemingly new trend, orange wines are as ancient as winemaking & we recommend any wine lover to fasten their seat belts & start exploring.

White Dry, light & refreshing

With their subtle fruit, often tied together with a touch of salinity or a mineral lift, these wines are delightful as aperitif & the perfect match for our lighter dishes. Pure & simple, they can offer citrus fruit, green apples, white flowers, pears & a vibrant acidity, framework of their subtlety & finesse.

White Well structured

Well structured whites have a distinct sense of refinement & elegance, with each component integrated to create a harmonious whole. The norm here is a solid backbone of acidity, providing freshness & vitality, with well defined fruit and additional complexity derived from aging on lees or oak. Textured & multilayered, well structured white wines offer a cohesive drinking experience that is both satisfying & memorable.

Red

Intense, structured & longlived

With their bold presence & robust character, these wines make a powerful statement, boasting deep, concentrated flavours & firm tannins. From the first sip, they captivate the senses with their rich complexity, offering an array of dark fruit flavours such as blackberries, plums, and currants, layered with notes of tobacco, leather & spice. They can take you through a journey where every sip illuminates new developing flavours.
